WEST LIBERTY, MORGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1933

WHOLE NUMBER 1170

SENATOR LOGAN HAS PLAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Senator Logan (D. Ky.) proposed in the Senate today that the government take over the profits of industry above a fair return to capital and labor and use them for the best interest of the public.

"It may be said that this suggestion is socialistic," said Logan.

"Everything that deals with society is naturally socialistic."

He added that he could claim "as great conservatism" as any other man and said he disclaimed "any suggestion of radicalism."

The Kentucky said that under his plan "the money would be left with the public to be used for acquiring those things necessary for the happiness of the human race."

The plan, he said, would "destroy all incentive to take from the public more than a fair return."

Unless the end sought by his proposal can be accomplished, Logan told the senate he saw no way to "ever break the grip of these great aggregations of wealth that have been discussed by the senator from Nebraska."

He referred to Senator Norris, independent republican, who in a speech had just assailed "Wall Street control" of industry.

Logan suggested that the government allow capital seven percent on its investment and labor a "fair wage" and take under the taxing power all profit over this amount.

The government would impose the surplus and congress would prescribe by law what use should be made of it. A part, he said, could be allocated to labor as unemployment insurance and a part to capital to tide it over lean years.

"This is a method whereby human greed would be very generally restricted," he said, "and equity would flow to the public."

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

The Courier presents this week for the consideration of the Democratic voters the name of J. W. Dunn, of Elder, as a candidate for county judge of Morgan county.

Mr. Dunn is 62 years old, has been a resident of Toms Branch voting precinct since the age of 8 years, and a Morgan county taxpayer for forty years.

He is a man of kindly disposition, a man of wide experience and quick to adapt himself to new conditions.

In announcing for this position he wishes it understood that he will insist on lower salaries for county officials and that several county jobs be abolished and several others reduced to at least part time jobs.

Mr. Dunn is a good Democrat and has never before been a candidate for county office. He is a candidate now because he is convinced he can be of some real service to the taxpayers of Morgan county.

If nominated and elected he will put Morgan county finances on a business basis. He is determined that it shall not be said that Morgan county is not making an honest effort to live within its income.

Cannel City Sewing Circle

The Cannel City Sewing Circle held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. Terrell, Feb. 24. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. D. Benton. After singing, "Draw Me Nearer," the hostess read an inspiring scripture lesson. Prayer was offered by Miss Sally Minor. Delicious homemade candy was served by the hostess to all those present. Everyone reported a delightful time, as all enjoyed meeting with Mrs. Terrell. Several visitors were present. We always enjoy these visits and welcome them back. Those present were: Mrs. Geo. T. Hollisworth, Mrs. J. D. Benton, Mrs. Lillie Egan, Mrs. Stella Benton, Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. Fanny L. Bailey, Mrs. M. H. Ferguson, Mrs. Willie Lykus, Mrs. Tom Walton, Mrs. Myrtle Peyton, Mrs. Lillie Nickell, Mrs. Gertrude Taylor, Miss Sally Minor, Mrs. Phil Donavan and Mrs. J. C. Terrell. The meeting was closed by singing, "In The Sweet By and By." Next meeting will be held with Mrs. Tom Walton, March 10.

IDEAL ARRANGEMENT

They had plighted their troth and were talking things over. They had both decided to be foregoing and long suffering and patient with each other. "I shall not be like the husbands who get cross if the dinner is cold," said the young man.

"If you ever did," said the girl sweetly, "I would make it hot for you!"

Not Worthy of Ratification

The Blaine resolution for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment should not be ratified. The individual states, their officials and electorates stand between the nation and an action that would be almost the worst possible disposal of the undeniably serious question regarding prohibition in the United States.

This is not to say that any or every proposition for alteration of the Eighteenth Amendment might necessarily meet rejection. A widened public support would be desirable for whatever method of liquor control the nation might elect. In view of this, it is possible that a substitute amendment might be drawn embodying a proposal that would commend itself to the judgment of the American voters. But the resolution which has been adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives is not that proposal.

If it is to gain ratification it will not be by any appeal to the judgment, reason or discernment of the people. Its sole prospect of acceptance rests on a play to their emotions, their groping economic discontent and the instinct of the herd. Hence it deserves to be resisted with every energy in the next few weeks lest a decision be made by stampede. It should be resisted not only by those anti-prohibitionists whose conscientiously drawn plans for liquor control have been thrown into the discard in order to cater to the thirst of some and the selfishness of a few.

This step is not a resolution but a sleight of hand. It proposes only to get rid of prohibition; about liquor it does nothing. And at heart the issue that concerns the United States—and with which it must continue to grapple whether it likes it or not—is not the prohibition question, it is the liquor question.

Several plans for liquor control have been advanced as substitutes for the Eighteenth Amendment. But the amendment now submitted is not a plan; it is a confession of the lack of ability to establish a national dispensary or controlled monopoly of liquor manufacture. It offers an attempt to formulate an improved method of dealing with liquor; it merely dumps the whole sorry mess back into the laps of the states.

The repeal resolution as it was hurried through the House stands in a form calculated to please best the private liquor interests. Proposals to outlaw the saloon or take the profit out of the liquor trade were brushed aside in the Senate, and no consideration of the amendments was permitted in the lower chamber. The resultant proposal is as close to unqualified repeal as the vote could hope would be ratified. The nation is obliged to choose between retention of the Eighteenth Amendment and going back practically the whole distance to the intolerable conditions which gave rise to that amendment.

The only federal safeguard afforded in the Blaine resolution is a provision against importation of liquor into dry states. Yet this minimum concession to decency, if the National Government considers itself at all obligated by it, will involve a bigger enforcement problem than has prohibition. Repeal in this form would be a plain invitation to the private liquor trade to do its worst not only in exploitation of the drinker but also in domination and corruption of state and local politics. For though some states may try non-profit methods of liquor control, there are others which would welcome the brewer, distiller and bartender in full flower. And once liquor is legally made, advertised and sold, let any state be on its mettle that assumes, even with federal assistance, to set limits to the profits of traffickers in drunkenness.

In view of the "rush-em-off-thurfee" character of the present repeal movement, and in view of the grave difficulties left unsolved by the Blaine resolution, it behooves the states to watch carefully their action and to stampede into hasty legislation a measure that merely sets to rest the problems grow where one grew before.—Christian Science Monitor.

DEDICATES POEM

To the Members of Holly Coffee Post 68 American Legion, and Veterans of Morgan county.

I have noticed through the columns of the Licking Valley Courier and observation that our post, as I still retain my membership there, has been rather active this year and I am glad to see this activity, as it is always worthwhile for the Ex-Servicemen to stand together; and I want to dedicate the following to you from a book of selected poems.

"When we hear the drums beat, and the marching of feet.

And the flags gaily float on the breeze;

When we meet to pay homage and show our esteem,

To the boys that went over seas;

Who pause to think of the brave ones who lie

In the hospitals, helpless and ill,

Whose lungs were so seared with poisonous gas,

When they carried the flag up the hill.

"Of the ones whose long nights are so riven with pain,

That nothing can give them relief,

Until they can stand the final review;

Of the Greatest Commander-in-Chief,

For theirs is the sacrifice great and supreme,

It is the one that still tortures the soul;

They laid their young lives on the Altar of War

And it gradually called for its toll.

"There are those who are sleeping where bright poppies nod,

In the battle fields far off in France,

There are those that came back and can still carry on,

And the nation clothes them in romance,

But what of the ones who are paying the price,

Of the Maimed, Of the Shell Shocked and Blind

Who helped with the Victor, but when they came back,

They left their bright hopes behind.

"They carried so bravely the Stars and the Stripes,

And none were more loyal than they;

And now just as bravely, they are bearing the load;

Of the Price they are having to pay.

So remember the boys who must fight to the end,

Till a buddy sounds taps and they are free,

They are game soldiers yet and are still smiling through

From the ranks of the wounded and maimed."

Your Buddy,
LYNN B. WELLS.

To Reduce Expenses

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt plans to reduce expenses of operating the White House one fourth. Her husband has requested that she present this example of economy in accord with the campaign pledge of the Democratic party that government expense be cut 25 percent. There will be general approval of the fact that the President's family believe that economy should start at home.

Birthday Dinner

Mrs. George Owsley prepared a delicious dinner Friday, in honor of her son John's 19th birthday. This bounteous feast was enjoyed by Elizabeth Williams, Hazel Elam, Dorothy and Ella Turner and the Owsley family.

Ex-Servicemen

The National Commander of the American Legion, Louis A. Johnson, will give a very interesting talk over National Radio hookup, on March 5th at 9:30 P. M. that every ex-serviceman should hear. On this date the Legion Hall, West Liberty, Ky. will be open to all ex-servicemen and we have arranged for a radio, so all may come to the hall and listen in on Commander Johnson's talk.

The next regular meeting of the American Legion Post 68 will be held at 12 noon—March 4th, and all are urged to attend.

Lantern's black kid pumps, "Star Brand," $1.95 at the Exchange Clothing store.

TURNERS ENTERTAIN

Mrs. Nancy Turner entertained the young people of the town Friday evening, in honor of John P. Owsley's nineteenth birthday. Mrs. Turner's home is always open to the younger set and hospitality and cheerfulness always abound there, but on this particular occasion everyone just seemed turned up for a good time. After an evening of social enjoyment, refreshments were served and the following guests departed feeling that it was good to have been there: John P. Owsley, Nell Cole Mr. and Mrs. Earl Treadway, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Gullett, Mr. and Mrs. George Owsley, Mrs. Malcolm Allen, Vivian Bellamy, Hazel Elam, Alicea Fannin, Theora West, Laverne Faulkner, Thelma Sparlock, Audra McKenzie, Myrtle Gullett, Ned Caskey, Helen McClure, Elizabeth Williams, Dorothy McKenzie, Bernice McClain, Mary Elizabeth Cochran, Dorothy Stacy, Olive Fannin, Sam May, Arlie Patrick, Delbert Price, Joe D. Lykus, Sherrann McKenzie, Tom Davis, Ledford Stacy, Arnold McKenzie, Buford Turner, Dorothy Pelaney, Johnny McKenzie, Lockwood Elam, Bernard Lacy, Lauren Mathis.

Out of town guests who attended the social were Miss Dunn and Harold Keeton of Salsersville and Miss Board of Winchester.

O. E. S. HONORS MRS. SEBASTAIN

One of the most interesting meetings of the Ashland Order of the Eastern Star was held on this Tuesday evening, and was in the form of a Valentine party for Mrs. Elsie Sebastain, who was recently appointed Grand Marshal of the O. E. S. of the State of Kentucky. The past Marshals of the local chapter were the hostesses at this occasion, with Mrs. Owen Meadows acting as chairman, and she was assisted by Mrs. Lillian Hunt, Amanda Beckett, Ida Prichard, Mary Sparks, Eva Flannery, Wilmet McNelly and Mrs. Wells.

Mrs. Effie McGuire, past Worthy Grand Matron of the state, was present and extended the courtesies to Mrs. Sebastain for the Worthy Grand Matron of the state of Kentucky. Mrs. Sebastain was introduced and escorted East where she was presented with a beautiful corsage of red carnations by the Marshals who formed an archway through which she passed.

Mrs. Lillian Hunt then approached the East, and in a charming manner paid a glowing tribute to Mrs. Sebastain and presented her with a gift from the chapter. Mrs. Sebastain responded in a gracious manner showing her appreciation of the honor, and stating that she now felt at home in the Ashland chapter.

Mrs. Lois Stewart, Worthy Matron of the local chapter, with her efficient corps of officers, spent much effort in the decorating of the hall for this party, and valentines were placed in appropriate places throughout the lodge room. A beautiful heart shaped valentine bearing the inscription "To our Martha" was given Mrs. Sebastain.

Mrs. Battle Hoffman had charge of the entertainment, and she presented the following program:

Wyle school toy band under the direction of Mrs. Mary K. Skirvin, accompanied by Mrs. Minnie Winder.

Wyle school dolls, under the direction of Miss Pauline Maggard.

Vocal solo by Roy Stewart, accompanied by Mrs. Price Poteet.

Tue dance, by Jean Dawson, presented by Miss Frances Glem with Miss Sarah Aseuth Scott accompanying.

Piano duet by Ruth and Charles Kramer.

Reading by Marguerite Henzuan.

During the social hour St. Valentine's Day refreshments were served to the members and guests numbering approximately one hundred.—Ashland Independent.

The Prize

The teacher had been giving his class of boys a lesson on salmon fishing and canning. At the close of the lesson the boys were told to take home their shutes and draw a salmon for the evening's home work.

Morning arrived, and each boy's slate was examined. One bore no drawing whatever, so the teacher demanded an explanation.

"Well, sir," said the boy, "I drew a real good one, and when I came to get my slate this morning I found the cat had licked it off."

Keith Home Burns

A frame cottage, home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Keith at Mt Sterling was entirely destroyed by fire on February 22. Loss $1800. No insurance. Cause of fire unknown.

STATE BANKING SITUATION

Very much to the surprise of all the officers and directors of the Commercial Bank, we received information on this morning that practically all the large banking institutions of Cincinnati had restricted the withdrawals of deposits to five percent. Shortly after receiving this information we received a wire from the Banking Commission of Kentucky, advising that the Governor had requested a holiday of all banks of Kentucky for a period of — days. Immediately upon getting this information we got in touch with some of the larger depositors of the institution who live near or at West Liberty, and had a conference. There were represented in this conference Luther Blair, L. B. Reed, Dr. J. D. Whitteker, T. J. Elam, Beverly Lewis, Ben Montgomery, R. C. Williams, W. M. Gardner, Harrison Murphy, John Robinson, Rell Brown, Floyd Arnett, James P. Oney, C. K. Stacy, C. C. Elam, D. H. Perry, and perhaps one or two others whose names we do not just now recall. This group represents about one half of the total deposits in the bank. The spirit of fairness manifested by these depositors toward the officers and management of the bank was splendid indeed, and they have directed us to publish the fact that they are ready to and will in every reasonable way cooperate with the bank in working out the best solution of the situation.

The trouble which has occurred was a matter which was entirely beyond the management and control of the local bank or its officials. The corresponding bank in Cincinnati, which the Commercial Bank used, refuses to pay, for the present, only five percent of the amount that is on deposit to the credit of the Commercial Bank. Consequently for the protection of all depositors and for the purpose of assuring the depositors that none shall have an advantage over another, it is necessary that the bank accept the holiday until such a date as safeguards can be set up to protect the depositors.

It is now the opinion of those connected with the bank that within a few days business will be resumed by the bank, but with a limitation that depositors may not draw more than a certain percent of the deposit, and this to continue until the trouble in Cincinnati has been cleared up.

We invite all depositors into our confidence and are ready at any and all times to explain to them every detail of the situation.

COMMERCIAL BANK, West Liberty
By FLOYD ARNETT, President

J. D. WHITEAKER, Vice Pres.

T. J. ELAM, Vice President

C. K. STACY, Secretary

W. M. GARDNER, Attorney.

Ladies Aid Meets

The Ladies Aid of the Christian Church met with Mrs. Floyd Arnett for an all day quilting. Each one present brought a covered dish and when the table was spread and the covers were removed a beautiful five course buffet luncheon was served. Devotional was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. M. Keyser. She read the eighth chapter of 1st Corinthians. Mrs. Nell Rose and Miss Josephine McGuire presented the Aid with a large white apron to be patched by each lady of the church. A piece of money to be placed under each patch. Those present were Mrs. R. A. Baldwin, Mrs. Cox McGuire, Mrs. Clifton McGuire, Mrs. G. I. Fannin, Mrs. W. T. Caskey, Mrs. Clifford Elam, Mrs. E. Mathis, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, Mrs. H. C. Rose, Mrs. W. P. Davis, Mrs. Wiley Steele, Mrs. Harlan Murphy, Mrs. Floyd Arnett, Misses Josephine McGuire, Moselette Walsh and Floris Cox. Visitors present were Mrs. Geo. Owsley, Mrs. Bob Rankin and Miss Florence McGuire.

Legion Party

The American Legion sponsored a charity party last Thursday night, with an attendance of about sixty. Music was furnished by our local broadcasting boys, Herbert and Walter Thomas and Roger and Frank West. All present reported a most enjoyable time and all paid their highest compliments to the musicians.

Mrs. James Franklin put in two quilts and invited the ladies in to a big chicken dinner yesterday. The company was composed of the following: Mrs. L. B. Reed, Mrs. Will Stacy, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, Mrs. D. R. Keeton, Mrs. Claude Wells, Mrs. Moma Wells, Mrs. H. C. Rose Jr., Mrs. C. P. Henry, Mrs. G. I. Fannin, Mrs. J. R. Day, Mrs. Will Wells, Mrs. L. C. Steele, Mrs. W. A. Caskey, Mrs. W. G. Ratliff, and Miss Nell Caskey.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rose and Mr. and Mrs. James Sanders of Tulsa, Okla. are visiting Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Gullett. They were accompanied by Mary Kathleen Gullett, of Eminence, who is also spending a few days with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Elam Jr. and little daughter, Phyllis, of Index, were the week end guests of Mrs. Elam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wells on Wells Hill.

COUNTY AGENTS' COLUMN

Farm Family Living

Food, fuel and shelter supplied by the farm for the farm family have probably never had as much significance for agricultural well-being as at the present time, says the annual outlook report issued by the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, for the benefit of Kentucky farmers.

"With disastrous declines in the value of farm products when exchanged for commodities that the farmers buy, the supplying of the farm family with these products of the farm is the farmer's most effective answer to the failure of freight rates, processing costs, and marketing charges to decline as fast as the prices of farm products," declares the report.

"Nature is kind to Kentucky farmers who wish to accept the challenge of the economic system. The mild climate is favorable to providing an abundance of fruits and vegetables for the thrifty farmer. Native and adapted grasses and legumes supply an abundance of feed for dairy cows. Extensive animal production and a diversified type of farming are suitable to maintaining a farm flock of poultry and for furnishing meat for the family. Farmers and farm women have done yeoman service in providing for the well being of their families during these troublous times, but there is much that can still be accomplished. Much dependence is still placed on other sources for products that could be grown economically on the home farm in these times of unusual price relationships.

"Fruits, vegetables, dairy products, meats, eggs and poultry are within the reach of every farm family. Every farmer may well plant a succession of vegetables that mature as the season progresses to provide an abundance of fresh vegetables throughout the productive season. Inexpensive storage facilities where surplus fruits and vegetables can be stored through the non-productive months will also prove to be of great value during these times of low cash incomes."

Kentucky Farm Radio Program

The College of Agriculture will broadcast the following farm radio program from the University of Kentucky extension studios of WLAS the week of March 6. Each program will begin at 12:45, central standard time.

Mar. 6.—Engineering on the farm. E. G. Welch. Some results with No. 5 tobacco. W. D. Vulture.

Mar. 7.—Poultry pointers for March. J. E. Humphrey. Kentucky farmers used lime in 1932. S. C. Jones.

Mar. 8.—Wooling for grass. W. J. Harris. Weed seed in low grade clover seed. E. C. Vaughn.

Mar. 9.—4-H club radio playlet.

Mar. 10.—What farm folks are asking. L. C. Brewer.

Outlook for Tobacco

The outlook is for market conditions in 1933-34 no better and possibly less favorable for most Kentucky types of tobacco, than those of the present marketing season, says the annual agricultural outlook report of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

Increased acreages may result from the fact that prices for the present season were as high as and in some instances higher than received for the 1931 crop. Tobacco consumption has been declining in the United States and the demand for American types has dropped.

The outlook for burley is not favorable to the maintenance of present prices, says the report. Fears are expressed that the comparatively good prices received for last year's crop will stimulate the acreage.

Production of one-sticker tobacco dropped 39 percent last year, compared with 1931, and prices improved. A moderate expansion in production this year may return farmers a larger total income.

A drop of 13 percent in Green River production last year failed to revive prices, due to lack of export demand for this type.

Seventy percent of dark-fired tobaccos are exported, and foreign demand for American fire-cured types dropped about 50 percent from 1923 to 1932.

The outlook is for little if any improvement in the prices of eastern dark fire-cured tobacco. Prices of both Paducah and Henderson stemming have improved, which may result in larger acreages this year. Prices are materially under the pre-war level.

The writers of the Kentucky outlook report offer the following suggestions to tobacco growers:

"In view of the probable less satisfactory market conditions for most types of tobacco next winter, it is important that Kentucky farmers strive to maintain their income this year by keeping production costs down to a minimum. With abundant supplies of farm labor and consequent low wages, some farmers can lower the cost of production by producing tobacco with the help of hired labor at lower costs than by the usual system. This practice together with the use of only good tobacco land may enable farm operators to derive some profit even at lower than present prices.

"With prospects for increased production the matter of quality is likely to be relatively more important to individual producers this year. Cultural and curing practices which have proved their value, such as proper ventilation, the control of humidity during the curing season, etc., should be followed rigidly in 1933."

Pasture Mixtures

Orchard grass is being more extensively used in pasture mixtures in Kentucky every year. Demonstrations in the use of grass mixtures which the extension Division of the College of Agriculture has conducted in practically every county in the state, indicate that the use of high quality orchard grass seed produces stands of grass as often as the seed of any other grass.

Orchard grass seed is usually sown in a mixture with korean lespedeza, red or alsike clover, timothy or redtop. Twelve to 15 pounds of seed are used to the acre. High quality seed is being offered this year at comparatively low prices.

Orchard grass is being extensively used in the development of dairymen in Graves county. Thirty Menifee county farmers sowed a mixture of four kinds of grass seeds last year. Dronth killed the redtop and alsike clover, but the orchard grass and korean lespedeza survived. One farmer reported orchard grass and korean lespedeza knee high in August and September.

Logan county farmers last year sowed 1,000 acres to orchard grass, sweet clover, redtop and korean and korean lespedeza. Thomas Baird sowed this mixture in a 15-acre field in 1930. In 1931 he pastured 22 cattle all summer on it and cut a sweet clover seed crop. In the spring of 1932 he pastured 18 to 21 cows in the same field for a time and then cut an orchard grass hay crop, after which the korean lespedeza grew abundantly. Mr. Baird sowed 90 acres to a grass mixture in 1932.

Relief Club Organized

The county agent met with a group of citizens and boys and girls at the Relief school house February 21, and organized a 4-H club with about 20 members. Miss Hazel Hamilton was elected president, Miss Wanda Lane, secretary, Mrs. E. A. Brown, sewing teacher and Donald Webb, community club leader. It is expected that this will be one of the outstanding clubs of the county.

Why Get Up Nights?

Make This 25c Test
Physic the bladder as you would the bowels. Drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Get a 25c test box of BU-KETS, the bladder physic, from any drug store. After four days if you are not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETS, containing bicarb. leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts pleasantly and effectively on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Arnett Drug Company says BU-KETS is a best seller.

YOU BREAK IT—HE WILL FIX IT

The repair man from the Rowland Auction Co. of Winchester will be at West Liberty on Monday, March 6. He will be prepared to repair any sewing machine or clock in Morgan county. Just bring the head of your machine—he will fix it while you wait.

He will also repair phonographs, watches, typewriters and electric fans—anything that is out of order.

People's Column

Killer's Confession Wanted

Dear People's Column:

In the year of 1853 Bill Brown was hung after a jury had found him guilty of killing a peddler who had long made regular trips through the county. While in jail awaiting his fate Brown wrote out a full confession of his crime. I am anxious to get a full copy of that confession. Anyone having either the original or a copy of said confession in any form will be doing an old resident a favor by turning it in to the Courier editor to be printed.

OLD RESIDENT

MUST REDUCE SALARIES

Dear People's Column:

I notice in this column of February 23, a statement of county officers' salaries and other expenses of the county amounting to more than all the taxes collected in the county.

It is my belief that the people of Morgan county should demand of the Fiscal Court first a reduction of salaries and second to do away with such offices that the county can get along without. We should keep only those officials required by law to perform the useful functions of the county. They ought to insist that county revenues be reallocated and distributed under a more strictly business plan.

If we have any respect for ourselves or if we hope to retain the respect of persons with whom we have business relations it is absolutely necessary that our expenses must be kept within our total income. How else can we hope to pay our debts? Consider the people in the county who are not able to pay their taxes! We must insist that the cost of county government come down. That new conditions must be met with new remedies. That county expenses must be kept within the county's income. H. C. McCLAIN

FIND YOUR MAN

Dear People's Column:

I noticed in this column that our county is badly in debt. Whom shall we blame? We want to blame the county officials. Should we not blame ourselves largely? For instance, we elect the magistrates and the county judge. These gentlemen are the fiscal court and they fix the salaries of the county officers. When these rates do what we might have expected they would do we grumble.

I know there is at least one man in every magisterial district who is qualified and who would consider the public good rather than his own salary or a job for any of his friends. Why not elect such a man? He will make the race in the district if the people will let him know that they are for him.

I think it would be a good idea for a candidate to lay out a definite stand or platform when he announces for office, and not talk and have published a lot of stuff about being the people's man, that he will treat you right and that he has or will do you a little favor.

From what we know about our county's financial affairs our good citizens had better open their eyes and do a bit of thinking.

Why not intrust the county's financial affairs to some one who will pull the bait to dry land instead of drifting further from shore with no paddle? Yours, LOYAL.

Luncheon Menus Rich in Milk

AN abundance of good nourishing foods are especially important at this time of year when, due to lack of the usual amount of sunshine, resistance to colds and other diseases is somewhat lowered. Mothers are busy seeing to it that their children in school have healthful, adequate lunches to fortify them for cold wintry winds and busy hours in school. For these mid-wintered lunches, foods providing a generous amount of milk are particularly valuable. This is true not only for the children but for every member of the family. If all in your household will drink milk yours is not such a difficult problem but if it is not taken as a beverage you must devise methods of introducing it into the menu in other ways.

The menus suggested here contain an abundance of milk in more or less disguised forms.

molds, chill and serve with cream or whipped cream.

Quick Tomato Rarebit—In a saucepan, melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 rounding tablespoons flour and stir until well blended. Add 1 medium can of Cream of Tomato Soup (heated) and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add ½ American Cheese grated and stir over a slow fire until cheese is melted. Serve on buttered toast or on crisp crackers. Garnish with Spanish Queen Olives. This rarebit is as delicious as it is easily prepared. It makes an excellent luncheon dish.

Hot Baked Bean Sandwich With Sliced Beef—Break 1 small jar dried beef into small pieces and brown in frying pan with 1 tablespoon butter. After a few minutes, add 1 medium can Oven Baked Beans — with Pork and Tomato Sauce or Vegetarian Style, 2 tablespoons Tomato Ketchup and 1 teaspoon sugar and allow to heat thoroughly. Serve on slices of golden brown toast. A slice of Genuine Dill Pickle is a suitable accompaniment to this luncheon dish.
